Top 10 takeaways from The Ultimate Guide To Managing Your Financial Planning Business

- 1/ You must have a clear vision of where you are headed.
 - Why am I doing this?
 - Why am I sacrificing myself for this project?
 - What is the higher purpose?
 - What's worth doing even if I fail?
 - The answers to these questions have the ability to transform the fortunes of a group or enterprise.
- 2/ You must know your core values. They are the glue that binds the team together. Identify them and then share them forever via stories, feedback and explanation to your team.
- 3/ The 10 year target lets everyone know the direction of travel.
- 4/ The 3 year picture lets people know what the near term future should look like.
- 5/ The 1 year plan is an achievable objective that walks the business forward and builds confidence as you hit your targets every year. This is done whilst working on a few full year projects that sow the seeds for jam tomorrow (not just jam today).
- 6/ Setting 90 day objectives and managing to them every week ensures you are forced to choose the highest priorities to work on. Other objectives are consciously excluded for now.
- 7/ Holding effective weekly leadership team meetings lets you resolve issues. Businesses that resolve issues move forward.
- 8/ The quarterly MI provides deeper insight into where the issues are in your business. They also provide evidence of improvement as you work on your various projects.
- 9/ Everything gets reviewed quarterly (with one big review annually at your business planning day). I'd recommend setting aside half a day for your quarterly reviews. Take time to pause and reflect on how things went during the quarter.

Did you hit your Rocks?

 - If not why not?
 - What can you learn from any successes or failures?
 - How can you improve your execution skills in the next quarter?
 - Don't just drift.
- 10/ Overlaying all of this is regular communication and sharing with the whole team. Share all of the following regularly:
 - Your vision for the business.
 - Your core values (especially when you see them being demonstrated or violated by action within the business).
 - Your 1 year plan and goals.
 - Your 90 day Rocks.
 - Stories about the work you do for your clients (so everyone on the team can share in the joy of great financial advice - not just the advisers).
